

COMMUNITY REFLECTION

Below are several reflection questions about community and classroom community that may be answered individually or in a small group.

What does the word “community” mean to you?

When do you know that a group of children and teachers have formed a community?

If you walked into a classroom during free play, what interactions, behaviors, and/or practices would show you are in a nurturing and caring community?

What type of community do you want for your classroom?

What specific practices, behaviors and actions will help create the community you envision?
